

May it be your will, Eternal, my God, and God of my forefathers, that You amply bless all the work of my hands, nourish me from Your hand, which is full, and fill my house and satisfy me from Your good storehouse. Help me succeed in my endeavors and affairs, and protect me wherever I go, for the life of every being rests in Your hand. May my sustenance be pleasant and dependent upon You, not on human beings, for they can be as bitter and hard as wormwood, shamefaced as they denigrate. In your great mercy, therefore, designate for me abundant sustenance from Your good and full hand. Guide me in a straight path before You, and let me find favor, loving-kindness, and compassion in Your sight and in the sight of all who behold me, for You are a compassionate and gracious God. Blessed are You O Eternal, Who hears prayer.
